

Transfer domain to Domainaddy from Google Domains

1. Sign into enom
2. From the navbar, Domains -> Transfer Domains -> Transfer a Domain
 - a. You should now see

3. Now open new tab and sign into Google Domains
4. Click the name of the domain that you want to transfer
5. At the top left, click Menu and then Registration settings
6. Under "Domain lock," make sure your domain is unlocked
7. On the right of "Transfer out," click Get auth code
8. Copy the authorization code

To continue using Google Workspace on celeritycouriers.com, you will need to re-enable billing after the transfer completes. Learn more about Google Workspace billing

Manage your auto-renew and DNS settings after completing the transfer. Learn more about transferring a domain to another registrar

To transfer your domain away from Google make sure your WHOIS contact info is up-to-date. Then copy the authorization code below and provide it to your new registrar:

Most domains take up to 5 days to complete. If you want to cancel this transfer, you must do so before the transfer is complete. Once transferred, this domain name will be registered with the new registrar. Learn more about how to minimize disruptions to your website and any Google services during the transfer.

Done

9. Now go back to Enom domain transfer screen
10. Enter the domain name and the authorization code from step 8
11. Hit "Continue"
12. Hit "Submit Order"
13. Done! Wait for transfer to complete!